

HEALTH SCREENING CHECKLIST

Do you currently have symptoms that may be due to COVID-19, but not attributable to another health condition, particularly:

- A fever, or feeling feverish?
If a person's body temperature is at or above 100.4 degrees Fahrenheit, the individual may not be admitted to City Hall.
- A new cough?
- New shortness of breath?
- A new sore throat?
- A new headache?
- New muscle aches that you cannot attribute to being caused by a specific activity (such as physical exercise)?
- Fatigue?
- Chills?
- A new loss of taste or smell?

Accommodations

If the answer is "yes" to any of these questions, access to the facility will be denied.

The city will make alternate arrangements to provide services to individuals denied access pursuant to this questionnaire.

Please refer to the League's City Employment Issue During COVID-19 Pandemic FAQs for additional resource information.

The employee should work with their supervisor to discuss potential accommodations, such as working from home.

Returning to work

An employee sent home with a fever can return to work when:

- Individual has had no fever for at least three days without taking medication to reduce fever during that time; AND
- Any respiratory symptoms (cough and shortness of breath) have improved; AND
- At least 10 days have passed since symptoms began.

Reference resource: CDC: If you are sick

An employee may return to work earlier if a doctor confirms the cause of the employee's fever or other symptoms is not COVID-19 and provides a written release for the employee to return to work.
